The November term of the county court will be convened this morning. Several matters of interest are to be taken up by the court.

The local democratic colony was very much elated yesterday evening when Oswald West received from W. J. Cook, who is in New York city, a dispatch stating that Coler was elected. Mr. Cook's message said that Coler's victory was a big surprise.

The steamer Ilwaco, formerly on the run from Astoria to Ilwaco, but lately on the sound, has been bought by Geo. W. Colwell and Engineer Smith, of the steamer Rider. It is understood the new owners will bring the Ilwaco back to the Columbia river and use her in the jobbing business. The purchase price has not been given out.

Councilman Trullinger has suggested to the council that the Third street improvement be deferred until the spring. He says that the proposed excavations along Third would cause a slide of serious proportions, and believes the improvement should not be undertaken while the winter rains are falling. It is probable that Mr. Trullinger's recommendation will be favorably acted upon.

W. C. Bishop has returned from a trip through the Youngs river district, where he circulated a petition for the building of the Lewis and Clark bridge. He says the people were almost unanimous in favoring the construction of the bridge, although some expressed the belief that the Nehalem road should be completed before other improvements were undertaken. Generally, however, the bridge was favored.

Astoria central labor council has instructed its secretary to interview the unions of the city and determine whether or not a ticket should be placed in the field at the December election. At the next meeting of the labor council the report of the secretary will be presented and the wish of the unions carried out. The council has endorsed J. E. Welch as a candidate for appointment as labor commissioner.

Less than 75 names appear on the registration books thus far. The voters are always very slow about registering until the last day or two, when there comes a rush that taxes the patience of the registration clerks. Deputy Auditor Leberman states that he intends compiling some interesting statistics from this year's city registrations. He purposes tabulating the American born and foreign voters, so that an idea of the number of foreign born voters can be gained. He will also show the number of voters from each state in the union. He is of the opinion that the number of foreign born voters will be greater than is generally thought.

The dredge belonging to the Columbia River Digger company, operated by Captain M. A. Hackett, completed the great dyke on the Lewis and Clark last Monday a week ago, but is still employed on the river enlarging the old hand dyke of J. E. Dement. This small dyke is 1500 feet in length and is merely an extension of the big dyke just completed, so it will be practically one work. The measurements of the dyke, as completed by the dredger, are 20 feet base, 6 1/2 feet high and 12 feet across the top. This will of course prove an effectual barrier to the encroaching tides as well as aiding travel as a highway.

The state fish commission held its monthly meeting at Salem yesterday. The report of Fish Warden Van Dusen treated largely of the damming of streams, and said in part: "A great deal of complaint has been lodged with this department of late over the matter of mill men and irrigating and mining ditch men damming the waters of the state without providing any passage way whatever for the fish to either ascend or descend the streams. They are generally low dams and no obstruction during high water, but as our waters remain high only a very short portion of the year, I look upon them as being very serious affairs; other dams are very massive and substantial and are complete obstructions at all times." Notes has been filed on the persons who have been building these dams and all will be required to observe the law.

Reports received here from the Ontario hatchery show that the new method of hatching salmon is resulting in a much larger output of fry. Under the old squeezing process about 4000 eggs were taken from each female salmon, and usually a few hundred of these eggs were destroyed in handling. Now the belly of the fish is slit open and the eggs shaken out. At Ontario 7,750,000 eggs have thus far been taken from 1635 female salmon, the average number from each salmon being 4755. There are about 1600 salmon yet to be spawned and it is likely the output there this season will be fully 15,000,000. At the Salmon river plant 1,000,000 fry have been hatched, but Superintendent Wisner, of the United States hatchery on the Clackamas, has promised to turn over an additional 2,000,000 to the salmon river plant. On the Grande Ronde 2,000,000 eggs have been taken, and it is the intention to secure a site a few miles above the present one for next season's work. Few fish have been taken on the Clackamas this year, there being a notable scarcity there.

Owing to the difficulty of obtaining lumber the new Catholic church will not be completed as soon as planned. It is expected that the Christmas service would be held in the new edifice, but it is very evident now that the structure will not be ready for occupancy until after that date.

Great interest was manifested locally in the elections throughout the country and The Astorian was besieged with inquiries from 9 o'clock last night until an early hour this morning. The manner in which Associated Press election returns are sent out makes it very difficult to give out information to inquirers. Most of the early dispatches are bulletins, which give unofficial returns for a certain number of precincts. The early bulletins give absolutely no idea of the probable result in the larger states. Necessarily the effort to answer questions from anxious Astorians is a lame one.

L. E. Ohler came down the river last evening, and reports that J. T. M. Harrington of Pillar Rock has probably defeated J. G. Megler for representative in Wahkiakum county. The reported defeat of Megler was caused, Mr. Ohler said, on the vote at Brookland, Megler's home. It was said the vote there stood: Megler, 16; Harrington, 15. It was claimed that Harrington had carried everything at Cathlamet, and that generally the election of the democrat was probable. It will be impossible to tell the result of the election until the morning boats arrive down the river. Mr. Ohler's statement being based solely on reports reaching the boat down last night.
